

News Release

Shugart Enterprises has announced that it will open a new Design Center located in their corporate headquarters in Winston Salem. This facility will service homebuyers from their varied communities located in Davidson, Forsyth, Guilford, Randolph and Stokes counties.

Shugart Enterprises will also open additional Selections Centers in their models in Burlington at The Waterfalls and at Stone Ridge in Gibsonville. Both facilities will feature displays of standard options and available upgrades of all exterior and interior products.

Grover Shugart has said that the company is responding to the needs of homebuyers who have to travel from a distant geographic area due to the various communities that are now located in six counties.

The Design Center will offer a wide variety of options and upgrades to homebuyers who want to personalize their home and add upgrades to enhance the value of their home purchase. In addition to the “one-stop shopping” aspect of the Design Center the company also offers the services of their designer to assist homebuyers with their selections.

The location of the existing Design Gallery in Greensboro was not adequately addressing the convenience of a facility close to where most of the communities are now being developed. This location will be closing as the new Design Center opens in January.

The first Selection Center at The Waterfalls Model in Burlington will open in late December and the New Design Center in Winston Salem will open in January. The Stone Ridge Selection Center is scheduled to open in late January.
